

Baby Raven Reads Lesson Plan

Am'ala Orientation	Make a Face 2-5 years	Dramatic Play All ages	A is for Am'ala All ages	Paperwork Parents
Activity	Have children look at their faces and draw a picture of themselves. Talk about the parts of a face. Use the paper circles for kids to draw different emotions.	With puppets, other animal figurines and stick figures, children can safely re-enact the story of Am'ala.	Help hold up the world by putting your handprint on the earth! Children will trace, cut and write their name on a handprint. Then glue it to the large earth.	Attendance, enrollment paperwork, photo release and medical release forms are provided for those who need to complete them.
Materials	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Paper • Pencils • Mirrors • Place to draw 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Animal puppets • Stick figure of Am'ala • Prop to represent the world • Green fabric for grass 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Glue sticks • Paper for handprints • Scissors • Writing utensils 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • iPad • Photo release • Medical release • Attendance sheet
Cultural and Developmental Learning Haa Latseen	5. Reflect through their own actions the critical role that the local heritage language plays in fostering a sense of who they are and how they understand the world around them* TSG SE 1. Regulates own emotion and behaviors a. Manages feelings	A. 3. acquire and pass on the traditions of their community through oral and written history*	E. 8. Identify and appreciate who they are and their place in the world*	