

Envisioning Our Future Through the Reflections of Our Past.

SEALASKA HERITAGE ARTS CAMPUS

ARTS PROGRAMMING

The Sealaska Heritage Arts Campus will:

- Allow Sealaska Heritage to expand Alaska Native and Northwest Coast art programming through classes and workshops to ensure perpetuation of these ancient art practices, which are unique in the world.
- Advance a plan by Sealaska Heritage, the University of Alaska Southeast and the Institute of American Indian Art in Santa Fe to create a four-year degree in Northwest Coast art by adding new space for classes.
- Allow SHI to develop and offer e-learning courses on Native art through the campus that provide options to earn high school credits, college credits, dual credits for high school and college, and no credits.
- Offer indoor and covered outdoor spaces for artists to make monumental art, such as totem poles and canoes.
- Include a covered outdoor space for expanded Native art markets.
- Help advance SHI's goal to establish Juneau as the Northwest Coast arts capital of the world.
- Help ensure the survival and enhancement of ancient art forms and practices and their continued evolution.
